ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES

Sometimes when you aren't feeling well, you need to see a doctor who will give you a

(1) for some medicine. The

(2) you need to get better depends on your health problem. For example, you might have an (3) and need antibiotics.

But if you have had an accident, you might need to have an (4) . There are other times, though, when medicine or surgery aren't necessary for you to experience an (5) .

That's when an alternative therapy can help you. One of these is pet assisted therapy. Perhaps you have trouble with (6) and find it difficult to talk to people. A friendly cat or dog can change that because we get a lot of

(7) from animals. Art therapy can also improve the way you feel - through painting, drama or dance. These are just some of the many alternatives available. People who use such therapies are in (8) - they are a great way to feel better!
