

Grammar in context

Look at these extracts from the audio in the listening lesson and write a word in each gap.

enough | so | such | too

- 1 ... it's got _____ dark that it's practically black ...
- 2 You're _____ old-fashioned to understand modern art ...
- 3 I didn't have _____ money on me to bid for much ...
- 4 ... the person sitting two rows in front of me has got _____ a big hat on I can't see anything at all!

REMEMBER

- We use so + adjective/adverb: The auction was so exciting (that) I bought several things.
- We use such (+ article) + adjective + noun: It was such a brilliant film (that) I bought the soundtrack.
- Too means 'so much/many that it's negative', and isn't followed by a that clause. We use too + adjective/adverb (+ for someone/something) (+ full infinitive): There are too many exhibits in the Louvre (for someone) to see them all in one day.
- We use much/far before too + adjective/adverb to add extra emphasis and indicate that something is extremely negative: You did that much / far too quickly – you can't have done it right!
- Enough isn't followed by a that clause. We use (not) adjective/adverb + enough (+ for someone/something) (+ full infinitive), or (not) enough + noun: I think you're talented enough to become a professional dancer. / I haven't got enough patience to be a painter.

► See Grammar reference, Unit 7, page 155

1 Choose the correct word or phrase.

- 1 These scissors are so / such blunt that they can't even cut a piece of paper.
- 2 'I'm worried she's working so / too quickly to produce a quality piece of work,' said the judge.
- 3 Working for a theatre company must be such an / a too interesting job.
- 4 There aren't visitors enough / enough visitors coming to the museum to keep it open.
- 5 I'm not knowledgeable enough / enough knowledgeable to be an art critic.
- 6 I'm much too / too much impatient to be a sculptor.
- 7 Opera singers have so / such incredible voices.
- 8 You've put much too much / far too many paint on that brush.

REMEMBER

- Although, even though and though separate two different clauses. They go at the beginning of a sentence, or in the middle: Even though it was tricky at first, I managed to paint a great picture!*
- In spite of and despite are followed by a noun, an -ing form, or the phrase the fact (that) + clause. They go at the beginning of a sentence, or in the middle: Despite having two auditions, Coleen failed to get a place at drama school.*
- With however, the things being contrasted are in separate sentences. It can go at the beginning of a sentence, in the middle, or at the end. The modern art area was empty. However, the sculpture exhibition was packed.

► See Grammar reference, Unit 7, page 155

2 Rewrite the sentence in different ways using the words given.

I got a new camera last month but I haven't taken any photos recently.

- 1 even _____
- 2 spite _____
- 3 however _____
- 4 although _____
- 5 despite _____

3 Write one word in each gap.

Tiger and Turtle – Magic Mountain

(1) _____ though when many people think of modern art they think of abstract paintings hanging on a wall, some modern art isn't inside at all. Take Tiger and Turtle – Magic Mountain in Duisburg, Germany, for example.

From a distance, it looks like a rollercoaster. (2) _____, it is a piece of art – a sculpture, in fact! And despite (3) _____ a sculpture, it's interactive, and visitors can walk and climb on it.

You can't, (4) _____, walk all the way from one end to another along the 'track' because of the loop in the middle. It's (5) _____ steep to climb all the way up. On a rollercoaster, the cars are going fast (6) _____ to get round the complete loop without falling off.

The piece was created by artists Heike Mutter and Ulrich Genth, who entered the design in an international competition. The judges were so impressed with it (7) _____ it was chosen as the winner.

It is (8) _____ an unusual work of art it's appeared in lots of newspapers and magazines, and on many websites.

