Reading books and films of true stories

3 Read the article. Then match the stories (A–E) with the statements (1–8) on page 31. Sometimes more than one story matches a statement.

Survival stories

Some of the best films and books come from true stories. This is particularly true for stories about mountaineers and explorers. Here are five of the best stories which became books and films.

A In 1996 Jon Krakauer went to Mount Everest. He wanted to climb the mountain and write about how the mountain was changing. However, while he was there, eight people died in terrible weather on the side of the mountain. Krakauer described what happened in his book Into Thin Air.

B When a plane was flying over the Andes in 1972, it crashed but some of the passengers survived. Two Uruguayan men, Nando Parrado and Roberto Canessa, walked for many days across the mountains to get help. Their story became a film called Alive.

C In 1865, while Edward Whymper and his team were climbing the Matterhorn mountain, one of the men fell. As he fell, his rope pulled others down with him. Whymper survived and wrote a book about the events.

D The climber George Mallory wanted to be the first person to climb Everest in 1924. He never returned, but no one knows if he reached the top. As a result, there are many books about this famous mountaineering mystery.

E While the explorer Ernest Shackleton was sailing around Antarctica his ship, Endurance, became stuck in the ice. Eventually, Shackleton and his crew left the ship and they spent sixteen days crossing 1,300 kilometres of ocean in small boats to the island of South Georgia. Shackleton published his famous story of survival in 1919.

- 1 This story isn't about any mountains.
- 2 The people in the story were not explorers or mountaineers.
- 3 We don't know if this person achieved his aim.
- 4 Weather was the problem in this story.
- 5 The leaders of the teams survived in these stories.
