

Read and complete text about the Andean Musical Instruments

- The bordino is a _____ hollow clay ball with three to four fingering _____. The sound notes are produced by _____ somewhat horizontally into the hole. Finger tips are placed on smaller holes to regulate the _____.
- The rondador is a set of _____ cane panpipes that produces two _____ simultaneously. The rondador is considered the _____ instrument of _____.
- The bandolin is a _____ stringed musical instrument in Ecuador. The body shape of the bandolin is similar to that of the _____.
- The charango was traditionally _____ with the shell from the back of an _____ but it can also be made of wood.