Once upon time, there was a prince. He was good looking and very rich. He lived in a beautiful castle together with his staffs and servants.

One rainy dark night, a woman came to his castle. She was old and ugly. The prince didn't like her and sent her away. After he sent the woman away, she turned into a beautiful fairy. She cast a spell over the prince and his castle. The prince became a beast. He was no longer good looking. He looked very ugly instead all his servants turned into furniture.

One day, an old man named Maurice was traveling past the castle. It was raining so hard that he decided to enter the castle. When the beast saw him, he captured him.

After some time, Maurice's daughter, Belle, began to worry about him. She started to look for him. Finally, she arrived in the castle and she found her father there. She asked the beast to let her father go but he refused. Belle, then, agreed to stay in the castle so that her father could go home.

While Belle was staying at castle, the beast slowly changed. He was not mean anymore. Belle began to like him and finally they fell in love with each other. Right after she declared her love for him the spell was broken. The Beast and his servants became human again. Then, the Beast and Belle got married. They lived happily ever after.

The Clever Violinist

One day a violinist decided to play some music as he was walking through the woods. But this attracted a large fierce bear.

"How well you play," he said to the man, to gain his confidence. "Could you teach me to play as well?"

"Of course," answered the violinist, not fooled at all. "As long as you do what I tell you. Put your paws in the crack in this tree."

The bear did as he was told and the musician was quick to jam his paws in the crack with a large stone. The bear was stuck tight.

The next time the violinist played, he attracted a lion, and the same scene was repeated. This time the beast was caught in a trap and ended up hanging by its tail from a tree. Then it was the turn of a tiger, which was captured by a similar trick.

When the three wild beasts managed to free themselves, the chased after the violinist, seeking revenge; but they found him in the company of a new friend: a huge woodsman with a giant axe, who chased the animals away. And so the clever violinist Crossed the forest in safety.
