Because what they've done is they've built (3) voicemail maze, which seems to be designed to prevent you ever from getting to talk to(3) who could actually answer your question or solve your problem. So you go through —push one for this, dial one for this, dial two for this, dial(3).

Neither option seems to answer my question, so(4)?

Sometimes I arrived at points where literally my options were to hear
.....(3), which was no use, or hang up. There are some points where, if you just don't do anything and hang on the line,
.....(4) to talk to a human being.... but it takes you a while,
you know, many minutes(3), repeated attempts to find out where those are. And so, I don't really know what they're(3).
They've obviously put, I suppose, put emphasis(2), but, in the process, they've actually made themselves almost impossible
.....(3).
