

WRITING TASK 2 - IELTS

In the [] obtaining news on the Internet has become an []. I have faith in the [] this trend overshadowing the traditional way of reading [] to become the most crucial source of [].

The most obvious [] supporting my viewpoint is the decline in popularity of traditional newspapers. Conventional newspapers' nature which is [] by a thorough and time-consuming process of editing, printing, and distributing turns to be a weakness that causes newspapers fail to meet the instant [] for news of modern news readers. In addition, due to the fact that printed newspapers are geographically limited, their reach and [] are becoming substantially lower than those of online news. Apparently, it is online press, not the traditional one, which helps news seekers all over the globe access local news as well as global news published by a variety of internationally [] newspapers including BBC, New York Times, and Wall Street Journal. Such availability of online news far outweighs that of printed news, steadily dominating the news industry.

[] the advantages of online news significantly surpass those of printed newspaper. In this era of advanced technology and communication, the omnipresence of the Internet and the [] of Internet devices have boosted the popularity of online news to an extent that the concept of buying and reading a printed newspaper would become obsolete and inconvenient. Online platforms which facilitate fast-moving and immediate news updates will certainly become the utmost solution to satisfy [] and busy news seekers. Thanks to Internet-based platforms, news about an incident happening half world away could be retrieved within a few seconds after its [], which renders news updates one day later on conventional newspapers out of date.

In conclusion, despite the fact that printed newspapers still hold an important role, I firmly support the tendency that they will be [] online news.

(314 words – written by Minh Nguyen, [] IELTS)