Listen to the first minute of the video, and identify the incorrect words in the transcript.

Zero seconds to 41 seconds:

A spoonful of sugar helps the medicine go down, so what does a spoonful of honey do? News 4's medical doctor Peter Ostrow has the answer today.

Line 2

Should you give honey to a child who has a cold?

Line 1

The old cure for my grandmother and for my mother was honey.

Honey has been claimed to have many health advantages including better athletic performance, improved sleep and relaxation, fewer allergies, faster healing of cuts and bruises and of course soothing coughs.

Line 4

That was a common case: honey and lemon, honey and whiskey even was an old-time remedy. The joke was of course that you give honey to the boy and the whiskey to yourself, and you both get a good night's sleep.
