Football in Argentina

More than a sport ... a passion!

Football in Argentina is like a religion. The blue and yellow of Boca Juniors, the most popular team in the country, competes with the red and white of the big rival, River Plate. This sport is more popular here than anywhere else in the world. People are so passionate about it!

Football is a family passion that passes from grandparents to grandchildren. "I usually go to the stadium alone and I always meet some friends there." Marina, a Boca fan says: "We spend all day singing and celebrating. When I can't go to the stadium, I watch the match on TV".

But River and Boca are not the only football clubs that move fans. San Lorenzo, Banfield, All Boys, Vélez, Estudiantes, Independiente, Racing and many others are also members of this national fever. Each team also has its own symbols, songs and legends that help to affirm the sense of belonging to a group identity.

1 What do you know about Argentinian football? What is your favourite Argentinian football team? Do you watch the matches on TV or at the stadium?

What I do

In my free time, I do a lot of things. Sometimes, I stay at home. I listen to my iPod or to the radio and I play computer games. I also go out with friends. We go to the cinema because we love films, but we sometimes just hang around in shopping centres.

What I don't do

I don't watch a lot of TV because TV programmes aren't very good. I don't chat on Skype because I haven't got an internet connection. And I don't play sports because I do exercise at school with my friends.
