

Getting Everything on the list

all fine    on sale    two dozen    two days    of course

Wendy and Jim are grocery shopping.

Wendy: OK, you grab a cart, and I'll look over<sup>1</sup> these coupons.

Jim: All right, I'm ready. Is there anything good _____?

Wendy: There are specials on soap, shampoo,<sup>2</sup> and toothbrushes.<sup>3</sup>

Jim: Great. We can get those after we find the stuff on our list. You brought the grocery list, right?

Wendy: _____. We need to get some milk and eggs. We also need two loaves of bread.

Jim: Milk and eggs are over there in the _____ section. Bread is on the other side of the store.

Wendy: I'll get the bread. Meet me in the back _____

_____ of the store at the meat section.

Jim: OK. We need _____ grade-A eggs and some milk.

Wendy: Remember to get low-fat _____

Jim: And you remember to get whole _____

Wendy: Did you check<sup>4</sup> the expiration date on those?

Jim: Sorry, I forgot. The eggs are OK, but the milk expires* in _____.

Wendy: I think you should get another one. Did you check to see if any of the eggs are broken?

Jim: They're _____.
