

GAP FILL: Listen and put the words into the gaps in the text.

Europeans Must Now Pay to Visit USA (9th August, 2010)

Plans by the United States to _____ travelers a $14 _____ for an electronic visa to enter the country have _____ European countries. American authorities have decided to start charging for the Electronic System for Travel Authorization (ESTA), which had been free. Under _____ rules, American citizens can enter European Union (EU) countries without charge, although some nations may _____ this. An EU official, Cecilia Malmstrom, said the new requirement is "_____ with the commitment of the US to facilitate transatlantic _____" and will _____ America's tourism industry. Many people feel a $14 charge is peanuts compared with the thousands spent on a vacation.

The ESTA system _____ tourists and business people to complete an online application form. There are a _____ of detailed questions about the potential visitor's private life and personal history. These include whether the applicant has a communicable disease, a physical or mental disorder or _____ drugs. People also have to answer questions about whether they have criminal _____ or have been _____ in spying, terrorism or genocide. The charge becomes effective from September 8th. Travel agencies suggest travelers _____ for a free ESTA now because it lasts 2 years. Martin Lewis from the MoneySavingExpert.com website _____: "Anyone [thinking of] going to the USA should urgently go and _____ in their ESTA right away."

mobility review angered harm records fee charge inconsistent current involved advised requires fill apply series abuses