THE BEATLES

John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr - together they were the Beatles, the greatest band the world has ever seen.

On July 6th 1957, fifteen-year-old Paul McCartney first met John Lennon in Liverpool. John Lennon was on stage with his band "The Quarry Men". Later in the evening Paul played the piano with the band. They thought he was so good that they asked him to join them.

In August 1960, the Beatles went to Germany, where they played at Hamburg's Star Club until December 1st. The band was made of John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and two other musicians on bass and drums.

In the summer of 1962, a new drummer Ringo Starr, joined John, Paul and George.

In October 11th 1962, the Beatles made their first appearance in the UK charts with Love Me Do. In early 1963, their second single Please, Please, Me became their first number one.

In 1967 the Beatles released their eight album, Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band. Many people think this is the greatest of all their records.

On January 30th 1969, the Beatles played their last concert. It was a show on the roof of their record company in London. A large group of fans watched from the street below. Just over a year later, the band broke up.

On December 8th 1980, when John Lennon was outside his home in New York with his wife Yoko Ono, a crazy fan called Mark Chapman shot him. John's death was a great shock all over the world – people now knew that the Beatles would never play together again.
