

Look at the pictures and choose the correct type of family it represents:

This family consists of a mother, a father and children.	Single-parent family
This family consists of adopted children.	Bicultural family
This family consists of only the mother or only the father with the children.	Blended family
This family consists of parents, children and other members like grandparents, uncles, aunts and cousins.	Nuclear family
This family consists of a father and a mother with children from previous relationships.	Adoptive family
This family consists of parents from two different cultures.	Extended family