

I. READING

There's an American state that is over 4 thousand kilometres from America. It's Hawaii. The state of Hawaii has got 132 islands. Hawaii is also the name of the biggest island. When Hawaiian people meet people, they say 'Aloha'. The Hawaiian word 'Aloha' means 'hello', 'goodbye', 'love'; and 'welcome'. They give visitors a 'lei' - a necklace of flowers or shells.

Hawaiian people don't have a word for 'weather' because the weather is the same all year; it's always warm. In the mountains they have 'vog'. It's like fog but it's from the gas in the Hawaiian volcanoes.

Hawaiians love basketball and baseball but their favourite sport is surfing. Hawaii is the home of surfing. There are 283 beaches and fantastic high waves.

If you like fruit and fish, Hawaii is the place for you. Most of the pineapples in the world are from Hawaii. Hawaiian people love to eat fish. Forty types of shark swim in the water near the islands. You can eat some of the sharks.

Mauna Loa, the biggest volcano on earth, is in Hawaii. It's massive. It contains countless lava flows. From the ocean floor, it's the highest mountain on earth. It's over 9,000 metres high. Mauna Loa is one of the most active volcanoes on earth. There have been thirty-three eruptions since 1843.

The Hawaiian islands formed from volcanoes. They started to erupt 700,000 years ago. The volcanoes were on the ocean floor. The lava flowed and cooled in the cold ocean. When lava cools, it becomes hard rock called basalt. This happened countless times. Layers of rock built up over the years. Eventually, the rock layers came above the water. They still erupt today. The lava makes the islands grow.
