It was the first day of school and Thad the turtle was going into the fourth grade. He was very nervous because he did not know what to expect. He got up early that morning, took a bath, ate his breakfast, brushed his teeth, got dressed, and ran for the bus stop. When he got to school, he saw his best friend, Elizabeth the elephant. She was nervous, too. When they got to their class, the teacher introduced herself as "Mrs. Thunder." She was very kind and gentle. The two friends were no longer nervous. They watched a video about the earth, played many games, and got to meet their new class pet, Stanley the moth. It was a great first day!
