

Well, I found a great jacket on the internet. It was black and it had a cool design on the back. You can't pay in cash of course, so my mum paid for it with her credit card. After that, we waited and waited but it didn't come. After two weeks, I emailed the company but they didn't answer. Then, six days later, it finally arrived. But the jacket was the wrong size. It was too small and it was blue. I returned it and asked them to send me the right one but they emailed me to say they didn't have one in my size in black. And my mum is still waiting for them to return her money.
