1. If you love nature and travel, life on a houseboat is the best life in the world. I've lived in a flat in the city with my parents and sister, and now we live on a houseboat. And the change has been fantastic!
2. Life on the water is much cheaper than life on land, but it has its problems. It can be cold aboard, for example, and most heating systems can't keep a big boat warm. So, our boat is quite small, but we've got a living room, a kitchen, a small bathroom and three bedrooms – one for my parents and one for each my sister and me. Space isn't a problem because we don't spend much time inside. You only need space to stand up and walk around.
3. Our life is quiet and peaceful – no crime, no noise or pollution. There are other families living on this part of the river so we've got lots of friends and always have things to do. We go to the local school of course and we go away every weekend – up or down the river, depending on the weather. We've just visited a national park with a few other families – it was wonderful!
