

How To Respond To Someone Being Bullied

Instructions: When we see people getting bullied how we react could help the situation or make it worse. Read the scenarios below and choose the right way to respond when you see someone being bullied. Put the correct letter in the first column.

1. Brandon and T.J., both fifth-graders are neighbors and have been best friends since they can remember. Brandon wants to start hanging out with some of the popular kids in school who sometimes tease T.J. Brandon decides to tease T.J. too in hopes that the popular kids will want to be friends.

2. On the way to lunch, Benjamin pushes Tommy into the girls' bathroom and, in earshot of several kids, remarks, "Need to use the girls' room, Tommy?" Benjamin has been taunting Tommy a lot recently, maybe because Tommy hangs out with the girls in the class more often than the boys.

3. Ms. Campbell's fifth-grade class is eating lunch. Taylor asks a group of kids if she can sit at their table, and they tell her yes. As Taylor sits down, Bryce, a student who always seems to pick on Taylor, pulls Taylor's chair out from under her. Taylor falls down and spills her tray of food.
