

FESTIVALS AND CELEBRATIONS AROUND THE WORLD

Choose the best option. Then drag and drop the correct name of the celebration.

It's celebrated in Ireland to honor the Patron Saint who introduced Christianity in the country. The shamrock represents the . People celebrate it by People celebrate death with food and drinks. It's a happy celebration started in . People are not sad or afraid. They sing, dance, wear costumes and parade. They honor their

It's not clear when it started but countries in the north hemisphere celebrated it on the 25th December with family and friends. They put up . On the night of the 24th, they have dinner together and when the clock strikes 12.00 am, people also make a toast and children open their presents. In some places there are also hide/s chocolate eggs for their kids to find on Sunday. It's a celebration. It takes place to remember when Jesus came back to life.

is the perfect symbol for this celebration! It's celebrated on the 14th of February and people give out cards, love letters, chocolates, flowers to their loved ones. It's a very romantic festivity. It celebrates

In Christian countries, it is celebrated on January 1st. There are different traditions. In people wear yellow underwear because it's supposed to bring good luck. In Italy people throw junk out of their windows to forget about the troubles of the past year. In

Philippines children have to jump ten times if they want to grow

CHRISTMAS

NEW YEAR

EASTER

SAINT VALENTINE'S DAY

SAINT PARICK'S DAY

DAY OF THE DEAD