Ray was not happy with his life until he compared it with a real chook. List some of the reasons you have to be happy. Think about your parents, your family, your school, your friends, your home and draw a picture of the one thing you are most happy about your life.

