

Read the text and fill in the gaps with the correct grammatical form of capitalized words.

The weather was perfect for a tennis tournament. It 1 _____ everyday for weeks before the sun had finally come out. The bad spell was finally over and it was sunny and warm again.

Paul was feeling a little nervous because he 2 _____ his biggest rival, Fred, who had a great serve and excellent timing.

"Hey, Paul," called his coach 3 _____ at him worriedly. "Bring your gear over here and have a seat."

"Sure, coach," said Paul, "whatever you say." " 4 _____ (you) last night like I told you?" asked his coach.

"I did," answered Paul, "but I had a bad dream. I 5 _____ by a huge tennis ball when I woke up in a sweat."

His coach laughed and said, "Listen, Paul. You 6 _____ a long way since the last time you played Fred, so don't worry."

"You're right, coach," decided Paul, "I 7 _____ it my best shot and maybe, just maybe, I might beat him this time."

RAIN

FACE

LOOK

NOT REST

CHASE

COME

GIVE