How Extreme Should Sports be?

Do some sports cross the line between fun and danger?

Bungee jumpers drop from great heights. Mountain bikers dash down rocky hills. Street luge riders race downhill on wheeled sleds at speeds of more than 80 miles per hour.

Those are some examples of extreme sports. They all have thrills, excitement--and danger.

Extreme athletes say they love taking risks. But others say that extreme sports are too dangerous. They say those sports shouldn't be played.

Are extreme sports too extreme? Read the following arguments. Then decide for yourself.

Yes! Extreme Sports Go Too Far!

People can become seriously injured while playing extreme sports. Risking serious injury to play a sport is foolish.

Take snow bikers, for instance. These riders fly down snowy hills at speeds of up to 60 miles per hour. Some snow bikers get the same kinds of injuries "that you might see in high-speed auto accidents," said one doctor.

Some rock climbers climb without using ropes. Some bungee jumpers leap out of helicopters. Athletes called base jumpers parachute from bridges and cliffs. There is no good reason for people to risk their lives doing those things.

Extreme sports set a bad example. Kids who see those sports on TV might want to try them at home. But they might not know how to play those sports safely.

When people play extreme sports, they are no longer playing games. They're being irresponsible.

No! Extreme Sports Don't Go Too Far!

Extreme sports have picked up a bad name. Some people just aren't used to the things extreme sports athletes can do.

Every sport comes with the risk of injury. Sometimes those injuries can be serious. Injuries in regular sports can be far worse than those that happen in extreme sports.

"I've seen two people killed in boxing rings. And I've seen two deaths in football," said Dr. Clifford Amenduri of Louisiana. "But I've never seen those kinds of injuries in extreme sports."

Extreme sports also have benefits that other sports don't have. Extreme sports can help young athletes build courage, some doctors say.

What about the thrills that come with playing extreme sports? "I like the risk," said Alex Dunand of Ottawa, Canada, a 14-year-old downhill skier. "If you didn't take risks, life would be boring."
