

There was once a man. On a lovely, sunny day, he was sitting under an apple tree. The tree he was sitting under was very big. He was reading a book under the tree. Suddenly, an apple fell on his head. He put his book down.
'Wow!' he thought. 'I have been here for so long. This is the most interesting book I have ever read.'

