Ella's New Bookbag

It was the end of the July-August vacation and finally time for school to re-open. Ella was excited to start the new school term. She was happy to see her friends again and meet her new teacher. But Ella was mostly excited to use her new, bright, pink bookbag.

On the last day of vacation, Sunday, she happily sat down on the floor with all her new school supplies and her pretty bookbag.

First, Ella put her crayons into her bookbag. She would use her crayons at school to draw pictures of her friends and new teacher, Ms. Andrews. Next, she put her pair of scissors into her bookbag. She would use her scissors to cut out different shapes for Arts and Craft. Then, she put all ten of her princess pencils into her bookbag. She thought about all the funny stories she would write with her pencils. Lastly, Ella put a big bottle of glitter glue into her bookbag. It would make everything she made sparkle.

After packing everything in her bag, she carefully zipped it up and placed it near her door. She smiled as she thought about what a great school year it would be.
