CORRECT THE FOLLOWING PASSAGE ELIMINATING ALL THE GOT, GET AND GETTING BY WRITING AN ALTERNATIVE WORD UNDER THE 'GOT'

After I got home I went to get hold of my mail and got incredibly excited when I noticed I had got a letter from the University. I was getting very excited by this, as I had got the chance several weeks earlier to sit an examination and get an extra qualification. I sat down, getting a paper knife from the coffee table to open the envelope. Then I got the shock of my life. The letter I had got in my hands slipped and dropped into the open fire. I quickly ran to get a stick to get the paper out of the fire, but all I got was a bruised toe as I tripped over the carpet. I got up again and got hold of the walking stick which I put into the fire and got the remainder of the letter out. I then got hold of a vase of flowers and threw the water over the smouldering letter. I got soaked as the water dripped over my foot at the same. I got hold of the letter and got it open as quickly as I could. Half of the letter had got burned, so I carefully got hold of the other half and read it to find out if I had got the qualification. The letter, however, was still slightly alight, and burned my thumb, leaving a mark next to the one I got when I was a boy. Once again I dropped the letter, getting mad with myself for not noticing the letter was still burning. I got hold of the stick once again and got the good part of the letter. Now I could once again read it. Had I got the examination, that's all I needed to know. I pulled the paper from the envelope and read that I had got an A Grade in the examination. I got such a thrill, and so proud of myself, as I continued to read the rest of the contents. But then I got pulled up short as I read that the letter was in fact addressed to someone else and I had got their letter by mistake. My letter had been put in the wrong envelope and so I still didn't know if I had got the qualification.
