

Do dogs Have Personalities? / Lines 25-28 (Module C)

- 25 According to Dr. Kent, identifying dogs' personalities can be used for many purposes: to find dogs that are suitable for certain jobs, such as police work or guiding blind people, and to help people adopt a dog that suits them.

It seems that Dr. Kent has learned what dog owners have already known for years.

(Adapted from "A Fetching Personality" Feature Story, The University of Texas at Austin, December 19, 2006)

Vocabulary (find the answers in the text)

- _____ = על פי
- _____ = מטרות
- _____ = מתאים
- _____ = עבודה במשטרה
- _____ = הכוונת אנשים עיוורים
- _____ = לאמץ
- _____ = בעלים

Word Families: (Fill in the chart with words from the text)

Verb	Noun	Adjective
	adoption	-----
own		-----
	identification	-----
suit	-----

Comprehension: (Answer the questions)

1. Identifying dogs' personalities is important for:

- a. _____
- b. _____

2. Name TWO jobs that dogs are suitable for.

- a. _____
- b. _____

3. According to lines 25-27, how can identifying dogs' personalities be useful?

- a. People can find the best dogs for themselves.
- b. Owners can find suitable people to train their dogs.
- c. Scientists can learn about dog owners' traits.
- d. Owners can train their dogs to behave better.

4. "Dr. Kent has learnt what dog owners have already known for years." (line 28)

What have dog owners known for years?

Answer: _____

5. Another title for this report could be (-).

- a. Training Your Dog
- b. Each Dog is Different
- c. Adopting a Dog
- d. The Best Traits in a Dog

Good Luck!