LISA'S EXPERIENCE

- When I was 14 years old I met a handsome guy through Instagram called Pablo Rodriguez. He sent me a friend request. Immediately, I stalked his Instagram and I saw he had many photographs with tons of likes. We had few friends in common, but still, I followed him back.
- Few days later, I uploaded a selfie to my Instagram story and he reacted to it. So, we chatted for many hours. I realized we had a lot of things in common: the same age, the same music and the same TV series. As days passed by, I became more dependent on his messages. I always received a "Good morning" message and I loved that! I knew a lot of things about his daily routine and so did him! We chatted all day long.
- One day, he told me he wanted to meet me after school. We planned to eat at McDonalds'. When I met him, he was in his car. There, I noticed that he was a little bit older. When I entered the car, I realized he was someone completely different from the guy I texted to.
- He took me by car far from the city center and I noticed that my life was in danger. Pablo obliged me to have sex with him, if not, my family would get hurt. So it was a secret that we had to keep.
- He continued texting and made me meet up with him again. The situation got worse and worse until I told my best friend about it. She believed me and we went to the police station.
