

By: David Elliott

IN THE PAST

A limerick poem is written in 5 lines with an AABBA rhyme where the first 2 and final lines rhyme and the middle 2 lines are normally slightly shorter and rhyme with each other but not with the other 3 lines.

Use the example below to help you write a limerick about a Quetzalcoatlus.

A huge flying dinosaur
Known as a pterosaur
I prefer birds of the quaternary
Like a little chirping canary
Not the scary predators from before

