

20 Things In The Kitchen<sup>1</sup> (answers mixed)

grater / baking pan & cookie sheet / measuring cup / colander / tongs / electric can opener / ladle / plastic container / peeler / plate / sieve - strainer / whisk / utensils (knife, spoon, fork) / pan / sandwich bag - ziploc bag / pot / oven mitt & potholder / bowl

Use a _____ to measure how much of each ingredient you need to use in the recipe. Many measuring cups are labeled in cups, ounces and milliliters.	There is also an automatic type called an _____.	Use a _____ to peel (remove the skin from) fruits and vegetables.

Use a _____ to grate or shred food into small pieces.	A _____ is often used to drain (remove the extra water) from cooked pasta.	A _____ or _____ is often used to separate liquids from solids.

A _____ is used for mixing.	A _____ is used for serving soup.	A _____ is often used for frying food (cooking in oil).

<sup>1</sup> <https://www.espressoenglish.net/learn-english-with-pictures-22-things-in-the-kitchen/> (adapted)

A _____ is often used for boiling food (cooking in water). The top part of the pot is called a lid or cover. It can be made of metal or glass.	An _____ (on the left) and a _____ (on the right) help protect your hands when you touch hot pots and pans.	A _____ is used for baking (cooking things in the oven) foods such as cake and cookies. A flatter version is called a _____.

You can use _____ to pick up food.	You use a _____, _____, and _____ to eat food. Together, these items are called _____.	You can serve soup, salad, or fruit in a _____.

You can serve food on a _____.	You can put leftovers (food that you will save for later) in a _____.	You can also preserve food in a _____. One very popular brand of sandwich bags is Ziploc, so some people call these _____.