Lighthouse lives

Before lighthouses were automated, they used to be the homes of lighthouse keepers and their families. Because they didn't have electricity the keeper had to climb up and down the (1) _____ regularly to keep the lamp lit. If you lived in a light house, you had to be prepared for a hard life away from other people.

Nowadays, old lighthouses are still popular even if their rooms are sometimes a strange shape. Their owners put them on the (2) _____ and sell them for a lot of money, usually through

(3) _____ agents who specialize in unusual (4) _____ . Instead of a garden (5) _____ and a few flowerbeds, you are surrounded by waves and your next-door (6) _____ might be a dolphin or a seagull. It's an ideal way of life for those who like their privacy and want to get away from it all.
