

The wind and the sun

This is a story about the wind and the sun. It was a cold day and a man with a coat, a hat and a scarf was in the park. The wind and the sun saw the man. 'I'm stronger than you!' said the wind. 'I can make that man take off his coat.' 'Ha! Ha!' said the sun. 'I don't think so. Let's have a competition! First, you try. Then it's my turn.'

The sun went behind a cloud and the wind blew and blew. The man held onto his hat, his scarf and his coat. The wind was cold and strong but the man's coat, hat and scarf stayed on.

'Now it's my turn,' said the sun. The sun shone brightly. The man took off his scarf. 'It's so warm and sunny!' he said. Then he took off his hat. 'It's so warm and sunny!' he said. Then he took off his coat. 'What a beautiful sunny day!' said the man. The sun was very warm.

'Hooray! I'm the winner!' said the sun, and the wind said, 'Yes, you're the winner. Well done, Sun.'
