

Directions: Read or listen to the story. Arrange the events according to how it happened.

Martin and I joined a race last Saturday. Martin loves to run in races all the time. In order to get ready for a race, Martin and I trained for weeks. To start, we went on two or more runs around our subdivision. Next, we ran up a few hills. Finally, on race day, Martin and I raced like the wind.

Martin and I run a few hills.

First Event

Martin and I went on runs around our subdivision.

Next Event

Martin and I went running like the wind.

Last Event

Yesterday, Liam's class went mango picking. First, the pupils got baskets from the farmer. Then, they walked excitedly to the mango trees. The trees were not that tall because they were grafted. Everyone filled the baskets with sweet smelling mangoes. A little later, the class sat down to eat some. Everyone thought the mangoes were delicious!

Everyone filled the baskets with sweet smelling mangoes.

First Event

The farmer gave each child a basket.

Next Event

Everyone walked to the mango trees.

Last Event

Cathy and Joy love to garden. Last month, they decided to plant some vegetables. First, they planted seeds on the seedling tray. When the seedlings are big enough, they transplanted them to big pots where the plants could grow. For weeks, they watered the plants and remove the weeds around them. In a few months, the pots were blooming and were full of tasty vegetables.

They transplanted the seedlings into big pots.

First Event

The plants grew and bloomed with tasty vegetables.

Next Event

Cathy and Joy planted seeds on the seedling tray.

Last Event