He climbed up on the roof and down chimney he went.

When the wolf came to the brick house, he blew but the house did not fall.

The wolf fell into a pot of boiling soup and got burnt.

One day the mother pig told the 3 little pigs that they had to go and build their own houses.

The wolf ran away and the pigs lived happily ever after.

All of the pigs built their own houses; one being of straw, the other of wood and the last being of bricks.

Unfortunately, the wolf blew down the first two houses and the frightened pigs ran to the brick house.
