

Types of television programmes

Pilot	sitcom	breakfast television	cookery	phone-in	chat show	repeat makeover	newsflash	telethon	roadshow	cartoon	soap opera	telefilm
the weather	docudrama	miniseries	documentary	magazine	docusoup travel/holiday	shipping forecast	tabloid TV	talk show	T- commerce	game show live	reality show

COMPLETE THE GAPS USING THE TV PROGRAMMES FROM THE BOX

-television programmes that are broadcast early in the morning
-a television or radio programme in which famous people talk about themselves and their work
-a television programme or film based on events that really happened
-a film or television programme that deals with real people and events
-a television programme series about the lives of real people
-a television programme in which people play games or answer questions in order to win prizes
-a live television or radio programme can be watched or listened to at the same time as it happens
-a television or radio programme made up of various reports, news stories etc
-a film made to be shown on television in several parts on different days
-a short broadcast of an important piece of news in the middle of a television or radio programme
-a radio or television programme that people phone with their questions or comments. The usual American word is call-in.
-a television programme that is broadcast to find out if people would enjoy a whole series
-television programmes that do not use professional actors but show real events and situations involving ordinary people
-a television or radio programme that is broadcast again
-a series of radio or television programmes, each of which is broadcast from a different place
-a radio broadcast describing what weather conditions will be like for ships sailing on the sea
-a television or radio series about the imaginary lives of a group of people. A soap opera is often simply called a soap.
-television programmes that are intended to be exciting or shocking
-a chat show
-business done using interactive television
-a film made to be broadcast on television, and not shown in cinemas
-a long television programme that provides entertainment with the purpose of raising money for charity
-a report on the weather in a newspaper or on television
-an amusing tv series based on fictional characters. Also known as a comedy
-a programme that features animated characters.
-a programme that features holidays destinations
-a show that helps people change their image or lifestyle
-a programme hosted by famous chefs, who teach people how to cook