II. Read the passage and choose the best answer to the following questions.

The human race is not only one small species in the living world. Many other species exist on this planet. However, human beings have a great influence on the rest of the world. They are changing the environment by building cities and villages where forests once stood. They are affecting the water supply by using water for industry and agriculture. They are changing the weather conditions by cutting down trees in the forests. And they are destroying the air by adding pollutants to it.

It can be said that human beings are changing the environment in all aspects through their actions and by their habits. This has resulted in two serious consequences. The first is that many kinds of rare animals are killed. The second is that the environment where these animals are living is badly destroyed. As a result, the number of rare animals is decreasing so fast that they are in danger of becoming extinct.
