

[UNIT 3. WAYS OF SOCIALISING]

VOCABULARY

Full Name: .....

Class: .....

\ Use the correct form of the word in brackets to fit each gap.*

Because (1) _____ (friend) is one of the few kinds of relationship we have; control over, it is an (2) _____ (interest) area of research for sociologists. Although we can't usually choose our (3) _____ (relate), bosses or (4) _____ (teach), we can choose our friends.

But how do we choose them and why is it that we find some people's (5) _____ (person) more (6) _____ (attract) than others? We are all looking for similar qualities in our friends, such as (7) _____ (honest), a good sense of humour and (8) _____ (kind).

However, what each of us means by "a good sense of humour", for example, is (9) _____ (differ). We are all unique and so the perfect friend for one person may seem a little (10) _____ (bore) to some one else.
