

Read the text, then answer the questions:

Giant pandas live in the forests in China. They have got black and white fur, and they are about 1-2 metre tall. The male is bigger than the female. A male weighs about 160 kg and a female about 125 kg.

The female panda usually has 1-2 babies every two years. Giant pandas can swim very well, and they can climb trees, too. Their favourite food is bamboo! They eat a lot of it. They spend about 12 hours every day eating 33 pounds of bamboo.

Giant pandas are one of the endangered animals. There are only about 1,000 wild giant panda in the world because people hunt them for their fur.
