

Match the pictures with the description

The roots absorb the water and other nutrients like minerals and the process is evident in the leaves

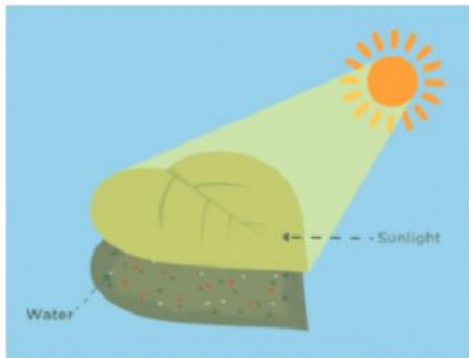

Then, plants give out oxygen

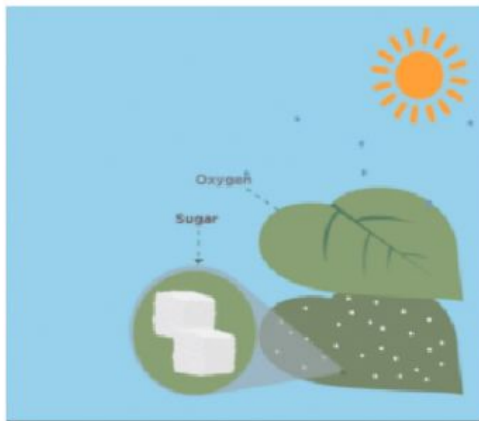

Plants breathe in carbon dioxide

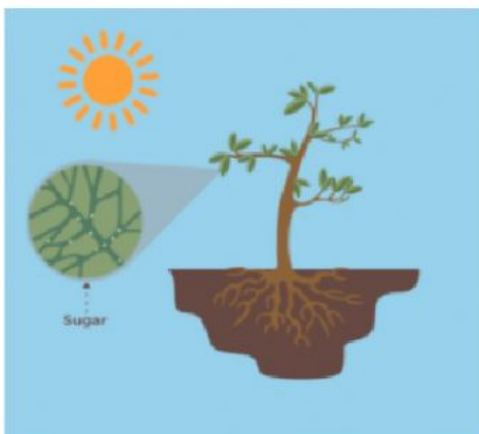

First, plants receive sunlight, water and carbon dioxide

Then, it turns into sugar and oxygen

Chloroplast receives water, sunlight and carbon dioxide

Finally, the sugar is used by the plants as their food.