

Oceans and Continents

Listen and read

Choose the continent

Write the numbers

1. The UK, Germany and France are part of this continent.
2. 60% of world population live here.
3. There are no cities or towns here, only scientific bases.
4. Lions, elephants and giraffes live here.
5. Canada, Brazil and Mexico are on this continent.
6. Australia is on this continent

Designed by Vecteezy

Read and choose True or False

Correct the false sentences

Earth is called the blue planet because 71% of it is covered in water.

There are five oceans, but when an ocean and land meet, we call it a sea. There are over 100 seas in the world, for example, the Mediterranean Sea between Europe, Africa and Asia and the Caribbean Sea in America.

All oceans and seas are salty, especially the Dead Sea in Asia. It's so salty no fish can live there.

There are lots of areas of the oceans we don't know about, but we know there are huge mountains and volcanoes under the water.

1. Earth is called the green planet.

2. The Mediterranean Sea is between Africa, Europe and Asia.

3. The Caribbean Sea is in Africa.

4. There are lots of fish in the Dead Sea.

5. There are mountains and volcanoes in the oceans.