

Read the fairy tale. Answer the questions.

One Morning in Dragonville

Long ago in the land of Dragonville, there lived a friendly dragon named Spots. Spots had brown spots all over his body. One morning, Spots was sad because he noticed one of his spots was missing. His friend Sparrow said he would help Spots look for the missing spot.

"I see my spot!" Spots cried. No, it was just a brown stone.

"I see your spot!" Sparrow exclaimed. No, it was just an acorn.

The two friends walked on. Suddenly Sparrow chirped, "Lift up your foot, Spots." There was the missing spot stuck to the bottom of the dragon's foot.

1. Why is this a fairy tale?

2. Why is Spots sad at the beginning of the fairy tale?

3. Why did the two friends walk on?

Home Activity Your child identified causes and effects in a fairy tale. Read a fairy tale with your child. Have your child identify the make-believe characters, setting, and series of events using cause and effect.