Ciao everyone! For my next holiday I'm going to the Italian capital. Rome is not cheap, so we're getting low-cost flights and staying with my Italian cousins. That way, we can save some money.

We only have one weekend for our city break. On the first day, we're going on a sightseeing tour by bus. We're going to see all the most famous buildings and monuments. My parents want to visit some museums too, but my brother and I will probably just have coffee and cake and watch people going by. It'll be fun, but very hot, so we'll take our sunscreen!

Next time, we might go on a day trip into the countryside. My cousins say it's very beautiful.

1 Why is Maria staying with her cousins?

2 How long is she staying in Rome?

3 What are Maria and her brother going to do while their parents go to museums?

4 Why does Maria need sunscreen?

5 What are Maria's plans for her next trip to Rome?

Speaking

8 Match the questions (1–5) to the answers (a–e).

1 Do you think we'll do housework 50 years from now?	—
2 And will we still have the same illnesses as today?	—
3 What about transportation? How will people travel?	—
4 And how will we communicate with people in other countries?	—
5 What about schools? How will they be different?	—

a Scientists will probably find cures so it'll be normal for people to live to be 100 years old.
b Learning languages won't be important as it is now because instant translation technology will work perfectly.
c Most lessons will be online so students won't leave their house much anymore.
d No, I think robots will do all the boring work.
e Everyone will have self-driving cars which will be safer and the same price as cars you drive yourself.
