

Spelling Lesson 9 Practice

Find the incorrect words in the paragraph and rewrite them correctly on the lines below.

This year has been crazy, to say the least. I'm sure it's going down in history. We have seen all kind of stuff, very scary stuff. Do you feel the same?

To begin with, in March we were sent to our houses as a new virus threatened our lives. We all were positive at the beginning and thought we would be back by April. At first, we considered this time as an attractive vacation, but not anymore.

Then, people just went crazy and bought all the toilet paper available. There was a shortage and people fought over it. Later, we entered the positive stage. As this got longer and longer, many started to make plans: exercise more, organize their homes, stay active, etc. I guess we've let that go too.

When will this be over? We cannot know. We can just advise our loved ones to be careful. To summarize, I really hope next year gets better and all this craziness stays in the past.
