

Where You Are

Moana, make way, make way! Moana, it's time you
_____. The village of Motunui is all you need.

The dancers are practising. They dance to an _____ song. (Who needs a new song? This old one's all we need)

This _____ is our mission and Moana, there's so much to do (make way!) Don't trip on the taro root, that's all you need.

We share _____ we make (we make) We joke and we weave our baskets (aha!) The _____ come back from the sea.

I wanna see.

Don't _____ away. Moana, stay on the ground now
Our people will need a _____. And there you are.

There comes a day, when you're gonna look around and realize _____ is where you are.

Consider the _____ (the what?). Consider its tree.
We use _____ part of the coconut. That's all we need. We make our nets from the _____.

The _____ is sweet inside. We use the _____
to build fires. We cook up the _____ inside.

Consider the coconuts. The _____ and the leaves (ha!). The island gives us what we need. And no one leaves.

That's right, we stay. We're _____ and we're well provided; and when we look to the future, there you are You'll be okay. In time you'll learn just as I did, you must find _____ right where you are.

I like to dance with the _____, the undertow and the
_____. The water is mischievous (ha!). I like how it misbehaves. The village may think I'm crazy, or say that I drift too far, but once you _____ what you like, well
there you are. You are your _____ daughter; stubbornness and pride; mind what he says but
_____, you may hear a voice inside. And if the voice
starts to whisper, to _____ the farthest star;
Moana, that voice inside is who you are.
