THERE IS/THERE ARE

"there's" or "there are" – which form is correct?

Note: there is = there's

(there's / there are) a T-shirt on the bed.

(are there / there are) two books on the floor.

(is there / there's) a laptop on the desk.

(is there / there are) five pencils on the sofa.

Answer the questions using "Yes, there is." / "No, there isn't." / "Yes, there are." / "No, there aren't."

Are there any bananas on the chair? (x)

Is there a pen in my pencil case? (√)

Are there books on my desk? (√)

Are there many students in the classroom? (x)

Is there a rubber on the floor? (x)

Are there camels at the zoo? (√)

Choose the correct option ("is there" / "are there") to form a question.

a hippo in the pool?

many books on the shelf?

many children in my class?

a pelican on the pirate's shoulder?

a hook on the pirate's left arm?

LIVEWORKSHEETS