

I have worked approximately 15-20 hours per week for around two years, but the days and times differ depending on the rosters

Permanent

I have committed to working 20 hours per week for two months, but something has come up next week so I am going to send someone else to do the work in my place

Casual

I was engaged for a few months to assist on a key project that is due to end next month, but it has been delayed. I have been asked to meet with my manager to discuss a potential extension.

Contractor

The last few weeks I have worked full time hours, but I am not rostered to work again for a few months once the uni semester starts
