

J3 Unit 5

Read and choose.

Siberian tigers are the biggest cats in the world. They can be 2 metres long and they can weigh 200 kilograms. They mostly live in the cold mountains of Siberia, in Russia, but there are some Siberian tigers in China.

Siberian tigers eat other animals and they are very good hunters. They can jump very high, run fast and they swim really well.

Siberian tigers are an endangered animal and there are only 400 of them in the world today. Siberian tigers are losing their habitat because the forests where they live are getting smaller.

- 1 Siberian tigers are bigger than lions.
- 2 Siberian tigers can weigh more than 100 kilograms.
- 3 They live in cold mountains.
- 4 They only live in Russia.
- 5 Siberian tigers are good at swimming.
- 6 They can't jump high.
- 7 There are lots of Siberian tigers.

True

False

True

False

True

False

True

False

True

False

True

False

True

False