WHAT YOU SAY WITHOUT SPEAKING

by Annabelle Shake

While talking, we don't use only our lips and tongue. Our whole body communicates feelings and intentions. Only some signals are conscious. These are different in different cultures. For example, don't try to give a Greek a high five. This would be very rude. Nodding to agree and shaking your head to disagree are common gestures around the world. But in Bulgaria their meanings are opposite. There are also signals we use without even knowing it. The way people listen tells you what they think. For example, how do you know if they like or dislike your ideas? 'Read' it in their eyes! When they are happy with what you say, their eyes open wider. By contrast, if they find you boring and irritating, their eyes become narrower.

An honest speaker keeps their hands open. But if the person uses them to cover their mouth, the situation is not good. This means the person wants to lie! Liars also touch their noses or necks without knowing it. So, watch out for these signs!

Przykład: The text tells us what we communicate without any words.

- 1 The people we talk to know what we mean because our bodies _____ them how we feel about something.
- 2 When you give a 'high five' in Greece, the Greeks may think you aren't _____.
- 3 When you want to agree with someone in Bulgaria, you _____ your head.
- 4 If you want to see if your listener likes what you say, look him/her in _____.
- 5 When you touch your neck too often when speaking, it may mean you aren't telling _____.

Hi there!

I've just come back from the USA and I want to tell you about my favourite place there. It's the Grand Canyon formed by the Colorado River in Arizona. Most of the Canyon is in the Grand Canyon National Park, which was one of the first national parks in the USA. Lots of people go there to look at the different kinds of rock and see how they've changed over billions of years. But I'm not interested in geology, so I enjoyed just looking at it. For me, it was also more interesting to hear about the Native Americans who lived there in the past. They were called the Pueblo people because they built places to live called pueblos in the Canyon's caves. My friends wanted me to go whitewater rafting with them, but I was too scared. I think it's extremely dangerous even if you have a crash helmet and a lifejacket on. So I went to a viewing point called Toroweap Overlook instead. It was very difficult to get there because, like most trails in the Canyon, it was steep and rocky. But I'm glad I did it, as the view was really fabulous. There are many other viewing points, like Lipan Point, which you can get to by car or bus, but it's not the same as walking to the top. I'm sure I'll never forget the trip.

- 2.1. The whole of the Grand Canyon is in the Grand Canyon National Park. P F
- 2.2. The author of the text likes geology very much. P F
- 2.3. The Pueblo people live in the Canyon. P F
- 2.4. The author of the text is afraid of whitewater rafting. P F
- 2.5. It's easy to get to Toroweap Overlook. P F
- 2.6. You can reach all viewing points by car or by bus. P F

2  Gemma doesn't care about what other people think of her look. She loves finding interesting things to wear and mixing completely different styles to make her own unique look. She even likes to look different at work or when she goes camping with her friends. She never buys second-hand clothes.

3  Beth has just left university and her life has completely changed. She got a job in an office so her jeans and T-shirts had to be replaced by a smarter, more professional look. Her holidays are also different. No more camping holidays for her. Now, she's got the money to stay at expensive holiday resorts.

4  Amanda works hard and earns a lot. She's very happy about that because she enjoys shopping for clothes. She doesn't buy very smart things for work but she loves looking trendy at the gym, tennis court and in the mountains when she goes skiing.
