Cheeky Chimps on the Motorway

Drivers were surprised to see monkeys running all over the road yesterday. The lorry taking them to their new home at the zoo broke down. When the lorry driver went to get help, one of the monkeys managed to open the door. The inspector said the monkeys looked like they are having great fun.

They climbed all over the road and scrambled up the lamppost. One even sat on top of the police car! Some drivers got angry because of the traffic jam, but most drivers were prepared to see the funny side.

"I'm pleased to say all the cheeky chimps are now safely back in the zoo," said inspector Baker last night.
