Hi, there! My name is Nichola. I was born in a small village in Greece but now I live in England with my family.

Well, Saturdays usually start very early for me. I get up at 7.30 am, put on my old jeans, a T-shirt and my old trainers and then I hurry downstairs to the kitchen for a big breakfast. When breakfast is over, I wash my father's car. At about 9.00 am, I help my mum with the housework. I tidy my room and then I do the washing.

I never have lunch at home. At about midday, I put on my hockey clothes and walk to the club. All the girls in the team have some snack at the club canteen. Then we train for two hours and sometimes we watch important matches on the premises. I really love hockey and I know I am good at it. I go back home at about 6.00 pm and have a shower. I have a rest and then I get ready to go out with my friends.

But today is a very special day for me. Today is not a usual Saturday. It is my graduation day and I am really excited!

It's 9.00 am now. I am relaxing at home. I am having a light breakfast with Mum, just some orange juice and tea. We are getting everything ready for tonight's party. I want to look glamorous! I have got a new evening dress and a new pair of nice shoes. I am dreaming of a marvellous night!
