

It is the last day of school, and the students are complimenting _____.

Ms. Kemp: Joanne, what compliment do you have for Beth?

Joanne: Beth, you're always cheerful. You're also kind and fair to everybody.

Beth: Thanks, Joanne. It's so nice of you to say so.

Ms. Kemp: Beth, let's hear _____ you now. You picked Peter's name.

Beth: (hesitating) Well, I think Peter is creative.

Peter, you're ... uh ... creative.

Peter: (shyly) Really?

Ms. Kemp: What _____ you think Peter is creative?

Beth: (after a long pause) When Boyd's foot got stuck
_____ the bicycle stand the other day, Peter got it out _____ butter. That was creative.

Boyd: Yeah! Nobody else thought _____ doing that.

Steve: I didn't know that. Well, then, I also think he's creative.

Beth: (confidently) Yeah, Peter, you ARE creative!

Peter: Thanks, Beth! It's the best compliment _____!
